Will I get paid the same week I start at Amazon?

Amazon will transfer money from your paychecks to the bank account you have designated as your paycheck and tax deductions recipient. This account will be where your paycheck is deposited every pay period that you work for Amazon.

If you have any questions about when your first paycheck will be direct deposited, please contact your local Human Resources department for more information.

The amount of your first check at Amazon will vary based on your individual contract and whether or not you receive a signing bonus. Generally, new Amazon associates receive their first paycheck after completing six weeks of training.
